Crowds But Poorly.

The transportation of the crowds from Norfolk to the Exposition Grounds to-day was not accomplished with anything like rapidity. Breakdowns were frequent and the schedule was not a close one. A two-minute schedule is promised by the trolley company for to-morrow, but owing to the fact that several bridges are only single track, it is believed that a five-minute schedule is all that can be operated. The Norfolk and Southern operated steam cars to the grounds to-day, but the fact that it would do so was not generally known, and the line was poorly patronized. unfortunate if those who come to the expesition do so with the expectation of enjoying exhibits, and the other attractions which are to be found at an exposition which is ready for the reception of visitors. There will be little or none of these here to-morrow. The visitor must content himself with sceing or hearing the President, the war-ships on the roads, and wandering about the grounds, speculating when the exposition will be finished, and ready to provide him with an opportunity to really enjoy what actually promises to be the most enjoyable of all American expositions.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NORFOLK, VA., April 25.—Secretary
C. Brooks Johnson, of the Exposition Board of Governors, has issued a statement declaring that the exposition will be practically completed by May 15th.
Owing to the unfavorable weather and scarcity of labor in some departments, the exposition will be in a more unfailshed condition than it otherwise would have been on opening day. Mr.
Johnson lays stress upon the fact that at the time of opening none of the expositions heretofore given have been in a completed state, and that the Jamestown Exposition has attained a greater per cent. of completion than any previous one.

TRAINS CROWDED FOR JAMESTOWN

Thousands from This City Go Down to Inaugural Ceremony.

TEN THOUSAND RICHMONDERS

Two Special C. and O. Trains This Morning and Long N. and W. Excursion.

Every steamboat leaving Richmond last night and this morning, and all the trains that are headed towards Tidewater were and will be crowded almost to suffocation. As many people as can find room on the various modes of travel will be leaving Richmond this morning for the Jamestown Exposition. Hundreds, even thousands of Richmond people are already in Norrollt, Newport News and on the Exposition Grounds, and thousands more will go this morning to be present at the opening exercises of the tercententy of the first American settlement.

The boats of the Virginia Navigation Company left yesterday well crowded, and the Old Dominion steamer Brandon left at 7 o'clock last night loaded to the gunwales with human freight, all ticketed to the exposition. Mayor McCarthy and a number of other city officials had state-rooms on the Brandon.

The Chesapeake and Onio will run two special excursion trains this morning, leaving here at 7 A. M. and 8 A.

The Coast Line and Norfolk and Western will run an excursion also. Already enough tickets have been sold by this popular route to fill twelve cars. This line is also prepared to meet the demand, even if it has to run trains in sections, and make two trains of fifteen cars each.

It is estimated that with the people who have already gone, and with those to leave this morning, not less than 16,000 Richmond folks will pass through the gates of the exposition today.

CITY SPRINGS UP IN SINGLE NIGHT!

National Soldiers Arrive and Pitch Their Tents for Long Stay.

Long Stay.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, VA., April 25.—Almost in a night's time a tented city has gone up by the Jamestown Exposition Grounds, and the long rows of canvas, stretched across the big military encampment, will remind the younger visitor of the spring of '98, when the boys in blue assembled for the invasion of Cuba, and the older ones of the stirring events of the early sixtles, which preceded the clash between the Blue and the Gray.

Visitors to the Exposition Grounds this morning were surprised to see the long rows of brown tents with the flags waving on the breezes. The corral of cavalry horses and the big guns of the artilliery were new sights to many. Sufficient is it to say that the entire Twenty-third Infantry, U. S. A., as aduadron of the Tweffth Cavalry, U. S. A., and a battery of artillery were all sleeping in Camp John Smith last night.

The last of the Twenty-third Infantry

all sleeping in Camp John Smith last night.
The last of the Twenty-third Infanty, came in from New York State last night; the cavalry came from Chickamaugi the cavalry came from Chickamaugi Park, Ga., late in the afternoon, and the artillery moved out on the exposition camp in time to pitch their tents and spend the night with the other soldiers who will make the exposition their head-quarters for the next seven months.
To-day the soldiers spent their entire time in setting their camp built and arranking for their residence in the tented city for the next half-year. All the soldiers come from regular barracks, and their encampment in tents, while net new, will be just a little odd.
Glad to Be Together.

Glad to Be Together.

Glad to Be Together.

The Twenty-third was especially anxious to get to Cump John Smith, as it has been some time since the regiment was together. For several years the different battallons have been stationed apart from each other, although they always were together for a short time each year during the annual manocurres. In fact, not since the Twenty-third piled, bag and baggage, into an overland train, and started for the Philippines, early in 1898, under the command of Colonel Thompson, have the different companies been together for any length of time, During the two years, following this trip the men fought the Filiphos shoulder to shoulder, and after a very strenuous campaign, in which many soldlers were promoted for bravery, they were sent back to the United States. On arrival here the battalions were divided, and except for the annual military manocurres they have been together but little since.

Therefore, the boys are glad to get together again. Old acquaintances and friendships are being renewed between officers and the men in the ranks, and their stay at the exposition should be a most pleasant-one.
